

TEMPERATURE COMPENSATING REFLECTIVE RESONATOR

ABSTRACT

A temperature compensating reflective resonator has a first light transmissive material and a second light transmissive material. The first and second light transmissive materials cooperate with one another in a manner which mitigates changes in an optical path length of the reflective resonator due to change in temperature.

11/11/2009 10:00 AM